Volume VI

1931

Published by the
Senior Class of Rex Hospital
Raleigh, North Carolina

Foreword

TO those interested in the past, present and future of Rex Hospital, we the staff of the 1931 NIGHTINGALE, realizing what an annual means to a graduating class, have, with the coöperation of the Hospital Staff and students, succeeded in presenting to you our sixth edition. We hope it will be a means of bringing back happy remembrances and associations long after the passing years have taken the realities from them; and that it will enable us to live again in spirit those glorious days spent in training.

My Task

TO learn to use the hands the Master gave me,
To ease the pain that day by day we see,
To strive for patience, kindness, understanding,
That "true and steadfast" may my motto be.

For shining clear and high forever before me
May hope lead on and on to show the way,
That I may help some soul in pain and anguish
To gladly cry "the night is gone, 'tis day."

Oh, may I ne'er lose sight of one great purpose,
For one high, noble cause may service be,
For inasmuch, the Master said to others
Applies no less, I think, to you and me.

To think that e'en the simple cup of water
Is remembered in God's Book! and so I ask,
Give me in large measure of Thy spirit,
And make, oh, make me worthy of my task.

Prophecy of Class 1931

APPROACH with hushed voices,
Softly tread,
See—are these waiting with joy or dread?
They watch as each must take her turn,
Eight lovely maidens—that they may learn
What the future holds—and she speaks, nor falters,
The crystal gazer bending o'er the altar
Where is placed the crystal clear as clear—
She is speaking, hush, for we must hear—
She calls a name—"Bertie Warren, you—"
But Miss Warren gasps "What shall I do?"

The Crystal Gazer:

You long have searched for your ideal. The superman awaits you. No longer must you wait for within the year you are to meet him. It will be a cyclonic affair for he will sweep you completely from your feet!

Tall he is and dark, his wavy hair, thick and black, his eyes—and there lies your capitulation, fair one, for you are powerless under the gaze of him who shall away your very life. His outstanding mental ability makes him the leading figure in his community and a social triumph wherever he goes. Learn well the qualities of sweet submission to a dominant will for therein lies the secret to your happiness.

Miss Annie Harris—I see you in a large Pediatric Hospital in New York City. You are now entering the ninth year of your Nursing career. Due to your outstanding work as superintendent of nurses and to your high ambitions, in three years you will be made superintendent of this famous hospital. Courage, pluck and perseverance will carry you through.

Oh, Miss Helen Harrell
Moonlight and roses
Have wonderful power o'er you,
Your heart reposes
In romantic love so true,
June night discloses
Love's golden dream coming true,
Wedding bells are ringing
Making one happy heart of two;
For you cannot resist the great white moon,
You will be no longer Helen Harrell after June.

The October . . . 1950, edition of the Raleigh News and Observer comes into view within the crystal. On the front page I see a picture of the magnificent North Carolina Neurological Hospital which has just been completed. Beside this picture I see another entitled, "Dr. Elsie Mae Barnes, Chief Diagnostician."

A court room slowly comes into view within the crystal—Can this be Clara Bow or who is the sweet, demure lady with the soft, low voice, downcast eye, and winning smile? I see the Judge as he solemnly pronounces her sentence, "Guilty!"

The headlines of the "Extras" which were being sold in all directions read: "Miss Marta Selma Morgan, Sued." Summing up the details it appears that Miss Morgan has appeared several times in like scenes before she finally retired to her quiet suburban home with the real choice of her heart—he having been convinced that these trials before the law for "Heart Balm" served only to make her sure of her own heart where he was concerned.

I see a huge sign confronting me:

WILLIAMSON FUNERAL HOME
(Incorporated)
FUNERAL DIRECTORS, EMBALMERS
MISS DOROTHY WILLIAMSON
ESTABLISHED 1931

In a few years, Miss Williamson, this sign will be changed; for yours, and another well-known firm in Raleigh will be merged into one.

The Scene changes yet again.

I see a telegraph office—the workers are all young girls. Happy smiling faces are everywhere darting about the large room. Even the delivery is made by these same laughing maidens. Miss LaRue Barbee has devised a place whereby all young girls receive daily a telegram which hinders good work. Her vast fortune left to her by a distant and unknown relative is being used to bring joy to untold thousands of young ladies who are making their way in the world. Miss Barbee's explanation is that telegrams always brought her so much joy that she longs to share the gladness with others of her age and sex. Her office will continue after her marriage which is to take place within two years.

Another court scene comes to view. Miss Sudie Boykin is on the stand. She is proclaiming loudly and vehemently against the opposing forces, which seem to give way before her force of argument.

Her practice in argument while in training serves her successfully in her chosen profession as a lawyer.

The Crystal Gazer slowly raises her eyes from the globe before her. The curtains drop and the crystal is hid from view.

Thus passes the Class of Thirty-one
Into the future one by one.

Last Will and Testament

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
COUNTY OF WAKE
CITY OF RALEIGH

} REX HOSPITAL

WE, the Class of 1931, of the aforesaid state, county and city, being in undisputed possession of intellect and sound character, realize that the "parting of the ways" has come; and as we have certain articles, ideas and ideals accumulated during our stay, do hereby proclaim and publish our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

To Miss Marshbanks we leave our deepest love and appreciation for the interest she has shown us during the past three years.

ARTICLE II

To our beloved Hospital we bequeath our undying devotion and life-long obligation.

ARTICLE III

To the Staff, who has untiringly guided us, we give our highest veneration and esteem.

ARTICLE IV

Item 1. We wish to leave to Miss Roop the key to all the chocolate cake, and the right to wear red dresses provided she does not wear them on date nights.

Item 2. To Mrs. Knight and Miss Pannell we leave our life-long friendship and appreciation for the delightful surprises given us.

Item 3. To Miss Athon we are leaving a menu for two.

Item 4. To Miss Sells and Miss Crump we bequeath two perfectly sound husbands who will trust and obey until death do them part.

ARTICLE V

Item 1. To our doctor teachers we bequeath all the valuable information they may have gathered from our examination papers for the past three years, to impart to the succeeding classes as they see fit.

Item 2. To "Maw" who has truly been a "Maw" to us for three years, we want to say "We love you."

Item 3. To our "Paw" we leave the privilege of bringing to the coming Seniors all the letters and telegrams he can carry, and we sincerely hope that they appreciate him as we do.

ARTICLE VI

Item 1. Miss Morgan wills her courting ability to Miss Gardner with the hope that she will make the best use of it.

Item 2. Miss Barbee wishes to leave to Miss Radford her brown suitcase, including key, so she can lock all valuables such as telegrams, etc.

Item 3. Miss Warren leaves to Miss Matthews her serious outlook on life.

Item 4. Miss Boykin leaves to Miss Robertson her good disposition and pretty red hair, plus the right to answer the door bell on Sunday and Wednesday nights.

Item 5. Miss Barnes wills to Miss Wells her "Gift O'Gab."

Item 6. Miss Harris leaves her sarcasm to Miss Marcom, with the advice to be careful or she will be called pert.

Item 7. Miss Harrell leaves her exclusive "Moonshine" to Miss Head with the best of luck.

Item 8. Miss Williamson wills to Miss Mansfield her raving ability, also her four-leaf clover.

ARTICLE VII

We hereby appoint Mr. Cox, our Business Manager, sole executor of this estate, and we rely on him to carry out our final wishes.

Witnesses:

MR. ROWLAND.

MAYOR CULBRETH.

CHRONICLES of the CLASS of '31 BIRDIE WARREN HISTORIAN

If

IF you can go on duty in the morning
With spotless uniform so stiff and white,
And not be sent back with an awful warning,
Before seven-thirty on that self-same night.

If you can meet the astute superintendent
And look her squarely in the eye
And assure her it was the fault of the attendant
That the liquid diet patient got the pie;

If to a probie you can talk up and not down dear,
And from a senior take a sassy order, too,
If you can take the blame and never frown, dear,
When the blame did not belong at all to you;

If you can smile when all the whole ward's whining,
And lights are flashing on and off for you.
And you do the work of six with face still shining,
When you really want to give up and be blue;

If you can straighten out your ward in three small hours,
When you need just twice that time to get it done;
And change and fix all sorts and kinds of flowers,
And make the patient think you're having fun;

If you can surely read each Dr's orders quickly,
And the effort doesn't cost you your good right eye
And the added work neither pales nor makes you sickly
And in your mind you never question why;

If you can keep in mind each bit of classwork,
That's given in quiz and lecture day and night;
And in the meantime see that you do not shirk
The practical work that must be done just right;

If you can do twenty hours of duty in ten, dear,
And for these years do the best you can afford,
Then at the end you may be a nurse, dear,
Provided, of course, you pass State Board.

The Hospital Flower

The Dorothy Perkins Rose!
Within its folds enclose
A fragrance sweet and rare,
And petals tinted pink
At once make one think
Of God's beauties to us laid bare.

The Dorothy Perkins Rose!
As it flourishes and grows,
While the zephyrs gently caress it,
Teaches beauty and grace
Are always in place;
And the beholder can only bless it.

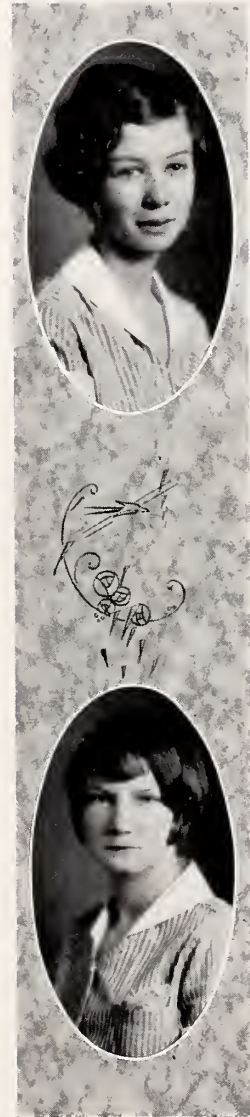

The Dorothy Perkins Rose
A secret must disclose—
This: it blossoms in a cluster,
The single beauties combined as one.
For success, we, too, must muster
Our aims and efforts till we've won.

Nursing Education

THE curriculum for Schools of Nursing is outlined by the American League of Nursing Education, enabling all standard schools to follow the academic course in the same manner. Training school inspectors are active in many states to keep the educational standards up to the requirements, North Carolina being one of these states.

The Examining Board for Nurses meets semi-annually. In order to qualify for this examination applicants must have satisfactorily completed the curriculum sponsored by the League of Nursing Education. It is interesting to note that North Carolina was the first state to require a state examination for the registration of nurses. The bill was passed in 1902 through the efforts of Miss Mary C. Wyche, first Superintendent of Nurses at Rex Hospital.

Throughout the entire three-year period the patient is the center of all training. A young woman preparing to be a nurse is thoroughly drilled in elementary nursing procedures before she comes into actual contact with the patients. With thorough training in theory and practice, this actual contact enables her to fit into the atmosphere and surroundings of a sick-room and render indispensable service in the care of the patient.

With hospitals doubling and redoubling their efficiency and equipment, the evolution of the nurse is evident. Today a new type person is required, typifying Florence Nightingale's ideals of education and refinement, and embodying the qualities found in such outstanding nurses as Miss Lillian Clayton and others who by their ideals and examples have placed nursing education among the leading professions of today.

MISS NELLIE I. ROOP
Instructress of Nurses

MISS ELLEN C. KING

Our Library Service

TODAY library service is spreading from one hospital center to another, and it is impossible to estimate the value of recreational reading as a therapeutic agent.

Public libraries are seeing the part they might play in helping cure the hospitalized sick, and the advantage of carrying books to the bedside that the patients may make a selection themselves.

The book cart rolls into the corridor—the word “library” goes from bed to bed and the librarian is fairly overwhelmed by a variety of questions and requests for certain books. The service given Rex Hospital by the Olivia Raney Library has the hearty endorsement of the superintendents, the doctors, and nurses.

Mrs. J. S. Atkinson is librarian of the Olivia Raney Library and Miss Ellen C. King is hospital librarian.

Florence Nightingale Pledge

"I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious or mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to elevate the standard of my profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work, and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

SONG OF THE 28TH OF MONTH

'Twas the night before payday, and all through my jeans
I hunted in vain for ways and means;
Not a quarter was stirring; not even a jit;

Forward, turn forward, O time in your flight
And make tomorrow just for tonight.

Freshman motto—We see all, know all, and tell it.

R is for ready to do my bit.

E is for everything that seems fit.

X—the unknown—let's be ready for it!

Miss Roop: Girls, you will have to dig down deeper in your study of this subject.

Miss Gardner: Miss Roop, every time I start down I bobble up like a cork.

Dr. Caviness: What is steam?

Miss Flowers: Water in a high state of perspiration.

Dr. Herring: My girl is mad with me because I know so many naughty songs.

Mr. Nunnery: Do you sing them to her, Ed?

Dr. Herring: No, I just whistle them.

Miss Williamson: So you even object to my presence at your wedding?

Miss Morgan: Oh well, that depends upon how you spell it.

Miss Seate: I wonder if Miss Marshbanks meant anything when she gave me a ticket to her lecture on fools.

Miss Harrell: Of course she did; doesn't it say—"admit one."

Dr. Garrison (In psychology): Miss Warren, what is thought?

Miss Warren: Thought is the fourth and hardest of all the elements. It takes a lot of thinking to think about the thought you are trying to think about.

Miss McNeal: There were three people who got out of the ark before Noah.

Miss Jones: How do you know?

Miss McNeal: Why, it says in the Bible that Noah came fourth.

Miss Matthews: Shut up, Rad. I can't hear myself think.

Miss Radford: Please excuse me, I have lost my teeth and can't see what I say.

Dr. Bugg: Now girls, I have told you this once before, but that is one good thing about this class, no matter how often I tell you a thing I can always tell it again after a week or so without fear that any one will remember it.

After a class in emergency and first aid—

Miss Roop: My! Have any of you ever been chilled, had chilblain or been frostbitten?

Miss Barnes: No, but Morgan's been Cole bitten.

NURSE CONUNDRUMS

What nurse takes care of your razor?

The night nurse who watches over your safety while you sleep.

Where does the Bible mention the night nurse?

In Mark V, 39, it says: "The damsel is not dead, but sleepeth."—Earle.

Miss Williamson: I wonder why my room is so cold? It used to be warm.

Miss Warren: It must be because Miss Morgan is on night duty.

THINGS WE WON'T FORGET

1. Date night on the corner seat.

2. "Men seeking whom they may devour."

3. "Barnes" with her gloves on on date night.

4. And "Phil" said.

5. Miss Barbee and her brown suitcase.

6. "This is my evening off."

During Dr. Royster's absence from class, Dr. West was asked to substitute for him. The subject was brain concussions and he was to begin where they had left off the time before. Dr. West proceeded as follows: "The crash or concussion attending the breaking up of masses of ice. The series of more severe crashes and concussions after smaller chunks have been served in cocktail glasses is known as a party."

Mr. Nunnery: Say, do you know what a prune is?

Miss Crump: Nope, what is it?

Mr. Nunnery: A raisin with inflammatory rheumatism.

Dr. Royster: A lecture is a process by which the contents of the professor's notes are transferred to the notebooks of the students, without passing through the heads of either the professor or the student.

Anxious Visitor: Do you really think you can make me well, doctor?
Dr. Royster: Without a doubt, your case is just my specialty; I've treated a patient for over twenty years who has exactly the same ailment.

Sonny Boy (to father who had just returned from the hospital after appendicitis operation): Well, where's the baby?

Dr. V. Caviness: And did you ever make a serious mistake in your diagnosis?
Dr. K. Neal: Yes, I once treated a patient for indigestion when she could easily have afforded appendicitis.

Miss Harrell: Yes, Johnny, the doctor brought twins.
Johnny: Gee, that's what we get for having a specialist.

Marion: What color is best for a bride?
John: Now, I think I prefer a white one.

Miss Marshbanks: Where do bad little nurses go?
Miss Radford: Down to the street corner and talk to traveling salesmen.

Dr. West: I'll not go on with my class until the room settles down.
Miss Harrell (whispering from back row): Better go home and sleep it off, ole man.

Mr. Cox: Hey, there, don't spit on that floor.
Dr. Abernethy: S'matter, floor leak?

Angry Widow (after learning that her husband had left her nothing): I want you to take "Rest in Peace" off that tombstone I bought the other day.
Stonecutter: I can't take that off, but I can put something underneath.
Angry Widow: All right, put "Till I Come."

Mac: I don't see why you want to invite that boy to the dance, because he sure can't dance.
Sally: No, he can't dance, but he sure can intermission.

Dr. West (over the phone): Miss Pannell, what do I have on this morning?
Miss Pannell: I really don't know, but I guess it's a pair of underwear.

Dr. Freeman: Why in the devil didn't you shoot that tiger?
Dr. McKee: I would have but he didn't have the right expression on his face for a rug.

Miss A. Harris: The man I marry must be a hero, brave, daring and gallant; he must have enough to support me comfortably; must have a country home and above all, be honest.

Miss Boykin: That's all very good; but this is love, not a department store.

Miss Williamson, after having her fortune told, discovers that her heart is broken and would like suggestions for treatment.

Send it to the Undertaker's Shop for repair.

While assisting Dr. Freeman in an operation Miss Harrell was told her grade on Pediatrics.

Dr. Freeman: Why all the excitement, Miss Harrell?

Miss Harrell: Oh! I made 98 on Pediatrics.

Dr. Freeman: You'd better specialize, you'd make a good baby raiser.

Miss Harrell: Oh, no! Miss Warren would do better; she made a hundred.

Mansfield: That photographer did not give me justice by my pictures.
Williamson: You don't need justice; you need mercy.

Miss Markum: Miss Roop, do we have any oral work to hand in this week?
Dr. Paul Neal: Who made the first Nitride?

Miss Barnes: Paul Revere.

Little grins of humor,
Little bits of bluff,
Make the Simple Seniors
Think that they're the stuff.

Wanted—A rope, my line has failed. Matthews.

BUILDERS OF DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized coöperation with the Staff.

Such able coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete coöperation from art work and engravings to the finished book, we offer unexcelled service. Complete service means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
